APPLICATIONS NOW OPEN FOR THE FUTURE IMPACT COMMUNITY LEADERSHIP PROGRAM

City of Greater Dandenong residents are being encouraged to apply for the Future Impact Community Leadership program, to grow leadership capabilities, build meaningful relationships and gain the tools to lead through complexity.

The free 5-day community leadership development program, which is delivered by Leadership Victoria in partnership with Greater Dandenong City Council and City of Casey, brings together local leaders from business, community, and public service to strengthen their leadership and deepen their impact.

Participants will attend a mix of online and in person sessions and have six months access to the Leadership Victoria learning management system, which includes evidence-based assigned readings, course resources and reflexive practice activities.

“The Future Impact Community Leadership program presents a great opportunity for residents to strengthen their leadership and deepen their impact,” said Deputy Mayor Councillor Sophie Tan.

“The program brings together business leaders, community organisation members and those in the public service and equips them to lead change, now and into the future.”

We want this program to reflect our diverse community and people of all abilities, sexualities, cultural and linguistic backgrounds, and ages are encouraged to apply.”

Applications are now open and close on Sunday 14 September.
